My beautiful 2011 Audi A4 2.0T quattro premium avant wagon

Unexpectedly on the market a beautiful example of utility, style and pace. No accidents, free and clear title, with an excellent engine and she just sailed through her state inspection.

For the past seven years and nine months she has been routinely (religiously?) serviced at Bernardi Audi Natick, MA. After looking around for most of the summer I found and bought her two weeks ago and am only her second "custodian". Alas after a couple of long drives (>100 miles) I have to now reluctantly let her go. I'm 6' 7" and I just cannot set my seat far enough back to be comfortable without causing a small and somewhat frustrating safety issue, in that when I look to the left I am staring straight at the door pillar which is not necessarily ideal!

A fabulous car for town and highway, moving stuff around, and the bloody awful winters we get up here - which is exactly why I bought her in the first Inst. to replace my trusty Volvo XC70 !

Everything works - tires near new, never smoked in, rear auxiliary power outlets, proven 2.0-liter turbocharged four-cylinder engine, 21/29 city/hwy, brake assist, electronic stability control, 8-speed Tiptronic automatic gearbox, tire pressure monitors, bluetooth and media player integration, open sky panoramic moonroof and a split-folding rear seat. ... bla bla bla!
